Today's Learning, Tomorrow's Leaders: NMDOT Aviation Division Participates in STEM Activities Steered Toward Transportation

Roswell – The New Mexico Department of Transportation Aviation Division will be a part of the New Mexico Aviation Aerospace STEM Expo at the Roswell International Air Center Thursday, September 26th.

The event focuses on Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) while informing students of career opportunities in Aviation Aerospace industry. Students will get to meet with industry leaders, higher education representatives while getting to explore and interact with some of the most advanced Aviation and Aerospace equipment in the world. This year's theme is; Women in Aviation and Science.

Knowing well the importance of education to the workforce of tomorrow, the NMDOT Aviation Division teamed up with New Mexico Aviation Aerospace to participate in this transportation event geared toward High School and Junior High School students.

The STEM event will take place Thursday, September 26th, 2019 from 9am – 3pm at the Roswell International Air Center.
